Previant, Goldberg, Uelmen, Gratz, Miller & Brueggeman, S.C. was founded in 1912, and has been widely recognized as a premier firm in the fields of labor and personal injury law ever since. The personal injury litigation team concentrates its practice in representing individuals in serious, complex personal injury and workers compensation cases. The labor team represents many of the largest labor unions in the state and also handles many labor cases throughout the nation.

Milwaukee Magazine named firm president Larry B. Brueggeman "one of Milwaukee's Best Lawyers" in 1995. Brueggeman is no stranger to hard work and dedication. Brueggeman practices personal injury law, concentrating in serious, complex cases. He is former president of the Wisconsin Academy of Trial Lawyers, a member of the American Board of Trial Advocates and is listed in The Best Lawyers in America. He received the University of Wisconsin Law School Special Appreciation Award for Outstanding Service as a Lecturer and a Special Recognition Award from the Wisconsin Academy of Trial Lawyers for Dedicated Leadership and Service.

WORKING HARD FOR WORKING PEOPLE.

Thomas J. Flanagan, who practices workers compensation, personal injury and Social Security disability law, shares his knowledge of law by presenting workshops on workers compensation issues. He is also co-editor of The Verdict, a magazine published by the Wisconsin Academy of Trial Lawyers, and is listed in The Best Lawyers in America. He is also an advisor to labor regarding changes in the workers compensation law.

The firm's other Super Lawyers, Matthew R. Robbins (Best Lawyers), Marianne G. Robbins and Scott D. Soldon (Best Lawyers) have represented unions and individual employees since the late 1970s. Their practices involve extensive federal litigation where they have argued cases before the 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and District of Columbia courts of appeal. The firm is legal counsel to the Wisconsin AFL-CIO and Teamsters Joint Council 39.

Previant, Goldberg, Uelmen, Gratz, Miller & Brueggeman, S.C. takes great pride in its steadfast commitment to all injured people and its record of success.
